WALLER IS NOT READY TO WORRY OVER ARMY MEAT

Despatch Concerning Requisitioning of Australian Supply Not Alarming

Gilbert J. Waller of the Hawaii Meat Company and the Metropolitan Meat Company, contractors for the supply of United States army meats and retailers to civilian consumers, declines to take seriously the news conveyed in an Associated Press despatch to the Star-Bulletin from London yesterday. The despatch states that Great Britain has requisitioned the beef supply of Australia.

At the present time, and for many months past, the Metropolitan market has imported large shipments of beef from the southern continent and should this supply be cut off a beef famine for civilians of Hawaii practically would be assured, as the local supply probably would go to the army. "The present order allows us to import beef to be used by the United States army only," said Mr. Waller today. "Thus we could not serve the Australian beef to civilian customers without violating the British order. I do not think this cable message affects us any. At any rate, we won't cross the bridges until we come to them."

In order to give the grass a chance to grow, all benches and other resting contrivances have been removed from the capitol grounds. The presence of "loafers" no longer will be tolerated, a police officer having been stationed in the grounds to see that this new regulation is carried out.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange was sold for $59,000, an advance of $9000 over the last previous sale.

MAY HAVE GOT IDEA HERE BUT NOT THAT BIRD

According to the New York Evening Journal, Irving Berlin got the inspiration for his latest song hit, "My Bird of Paradise," from the act of a hard-hearted customs official, who seized a bird of paradise plume which Mr. Berlin had purchased for a friend.

The Evening Journal article, which is an interesting one, is reproduced herewith: "When a song becomes popular many like to know how the idea of the song came to the composer. Irving Berlin, the noted writer of popular songs, after having completed his first Broadway production, 'Watch Your Step,' which has taken New York by storm through its lyrics and music, all of which the young genius wrote, took a much needed rest.

"He took himself, with a party of friends, on a trip to the Panama canal and visited the Hawaiian Islands. In an interview with the young writer he told how the idea of 'My Bird of Paradise' came to him. Mr. Berlin took it upon himself to buy a bird of paradise for a certain young woman in the party. Upon arriving in New York the Customs House inspector informed him that he would have to relieve her of the bird. Mr. Berlin remarked that he bought this expensive outfit at the Hawaiian Islands. But the inspector was obdurate and took it in his care.

"This almost brought tears to the composer's eyes, and he at once decided that if he couldn't bring the bird of paradise into the United States, and if the ladies could not have them, he would at least write a song which would adorn the pianos in their homes. So it was that little incident that gave Irving Berlin the inspiration for the lyric.

"This song undoubtedly will sweep the country, as it has one of the best melodies Irving Berlin ever has written, and followers of Irving Berlin know that they are of the haunting kind."

This is all very interesting, the only point against it being that birds of Paradise don't grow in the Hawaiian Islands. Otherwise the story may be accurate.

The remains of Sergeant Earl Ringland, Company E, Signal Corps, U. S. A., who died at Fort Shafter a few days ago, were placed aboard the transport Sheridan today for shipment to San Francisco, where they will be interred in the National cemetery. Funeral services were held at the National Guard armory at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Ringland is survived by a widow residing in San Francisco.

POPULAR YOUNG FOLKS OF FORT SHAFTER WEDDED

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
FORT SHAFTER, May 5.—The wedding of Miss Eleanor Lenihan and Lieut. Douglass Taft Greene, 2d Infantry, was celebrated last night at the quarters of Maj. and Mrs. Michael J. Lenihan at Fort Shafter and was attended by nearly 200, embracing service people and civilian friends of the popular young pair.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the 2d Infantry orchestra from its post on the stair, began the strains of the wedding march and from their post on the stair, eight of the bachelors of the garrison in tropical full dress and with drawn sabers, marched by twos along the hall and into the magnificently decorated main room preceding Miss Catherine Lenihan, who acted as maid of honor for her sister. The bride was escorted by her father to the altar and right gracious and charming did she appear in a lovely gown with the soft folds of the bridal veil over her dark hair. Lieut. Greene, accompanied by Lieut. Hardigg, met his bride before the officiating priest, Father Ulrich, and there under the glorious blooms that transformed the room into a beautiful bower the ceremony was concluded. A reception followed and later a delightful collation was served to the many guests that thronged the spacious quarters. The health and happiness of Lieut. and Mrs. Greene was pledged many times from a generous bowl that was never allowed to approach emptiness. Dancing followed and was kept up until a late hour. At 10:30 Mr. and Mrs. Greene made a hilarious escape from the enterprising bachelors and left by motor with their destination a profound secret. They will leave for the states by the transport today, to be gone on a trip to last until late in June. In the upper hall of the home the many and magnificent gifts showered on the bride were displayed to the delight of the guests. The regimental gift of a service of flat silver was most impressive in its beauty. It was given by the officers and ladies of the 2d Infantry. Numerous cablegrams from relatives and friends on the mainland were received by Miss Lenihan during her wedding day. All couched in terms of affection and expressing the happiest hopes for the future.

ICE CREAM

When we installed an ice cream plant we had in mind to put at your service, what most modern cities have, an ice cream plant which represents the last word in the preparation of this line of dairy products. The industry has developed probably far beyond your knowledge of it. We are satisfied with the splendid patronage that has been shown for the new features introduced, but the unlimited variety, which such a modern plant affords has hardly been touched. Besides having an up-to-date factory, we shall from time to time add such new equipment as the development of the industry affords.

For those of our customers who do not already know it, we wish to state that we are making anything that could be desired in the line of BRICKS; all flavors of our ice creams, puddings, mousses, and sherbets can be put in brick form.
